

CODING RESOURCES

Are you interested in learning code outside of school? Here are some free online resources that you can use!

<https://www.codecademy.com/catalog/subject/all>

Codecademy offers courses for many different coding languages. Use the link above to check out their Catalog of courses and choose one you are interested in to get started.

<https://learn.freecodecamp.org/>

freeCodeCamp introduces you to many different coding languages. You will start by learning HTML and then build from there.

THE ODIN PROJECT

<https://www.theodinproject.com/courses>

The Odin Project is a great resource if you are interested in Web Development coding (coding for websites, browsers, servers, and the internet in general). Click the link above to look at the courses they offer.